

Clinical Psychiatry News® and Internal Medicine News® Digital Network Win 2014 APEX Awards of Excellence

Parsippany, NJ – July 7, 2014 – Frontline Medical Communications (FMC) is pleased to announce Clinical Psychiatry News® and Internal Medicine News® Digital Network have won 2014 APEX Awards for Publication Excellence.

The 26th Annual APEX Awards for Publication Excellence is an annual competition for corporate and nonprofit publishers, editors, writers and designers who create print, Web, electronic and social media. “Apex awards are based on excellence in graphic design, editorial content, and the ability to achieve overall communications excellence,” according to Communications Concepts.

Clinical Psychiatry News® has been recognized by APEX with a 2014 Award of Excellence for the category of Writing – Health & Medical Writing for "Five ways the DSM-5 could change your practice," published in the May 1, 2013 print edition of Clinical Psychiatry News® page 1 and on the Clinical Psychiatry News® Digital Network on May 15, 2013. The in-depth feature, written by Mary Ellen Schneider, interviewed experts who worked on the DSM-5, including the president of the American Psychiatric Association. The experts discussed the five changes to the manual most likely to affect the way psychiatrists practice.

The Internal Medicine News Digital Network received a 2014 Award of Excellence in the category of Websites for the website www.internalmedicinewebsite.com. This site is the online destination and multimedia properties of Internal Medicine News®, the independent news publication for internal medicine specialists. Internal Medicine News® has been the leading source of news and commentary about clinical developments in internal medicine as well as health care policy and regulations that affect the physician’s practice, since 1968.

Upon receiving the awards, Executive Editor, Denise Fulton, commented, “A special thanks goes to Managing Editors Gina Henderson, Clinical Psychiatry News® and Terry Rudd, Internal Medicine News® for the great strides they take to produce timely and relevant print and digital content — medical specialty news coverage — tailored to the needs and interests of their respective practicing specialists.” Fulton added, “Our entire staff of editors and medical journalists strives to provide news that is fair, balanced, and accurate by adhering to policies of fact verification and disclosures of interest by sources quoted in our articles.”

About Clinical Psychiatry News®

Clinical Psychiatry News® is the leading independent newspaper for the practicing psychiatrist. Readers rely on Clinical Psychiatry News® for breaking news and insightful commentary—in a clear, concise, accessible format—that can be used daily in practice. Clinical Psychiatry News® is published monthly and circulates to more than 38,000 psychiatrists and child psychiatrists. All articles are researched, written, and produced by a full-time staff of professional medical journalists. Clinical Psychiatry News® Digital Network, www.clinicalpsychiatrynews.com, is the online destination and multimedia property of Clinical Psychiatry News. This site provides news and views that matter to physicians in a timely and interactive format. With award-winning daily news coverage and stories from the print publication, physicians can get immediate information online. They can join the conversation through commentary, blogs, Facebook, and Twitter. Clinical Psychiatry News Digital Network is the best way for physicians to stay current, save time, and gain perspective.

About Internal Medicine News[®]

For 46 years, Internal Medicine News has been the leading independent newspaper for internal medicine. Readers rely on Internal Medicine News for breaking news and insightful commentary—in a clear, concise, accessible format—that can be used daily in practice. Internal Medicine News is published twenty times per year and circulates to more than 103,500 internists and related subspecialists. All articles are researched, written, and produced by a full-time staff of professional medical journalists. Internal Medicine News Digital Network, www.internalmedicineneeds.com, is the online destination and multimedia property of Internal Medicine News. This site provides news and views that matter to internal medicine in a timely and interactive format. With award-winning daily news coverage and stories from the print publication, physicians can get immediate information online. They can join the conversation through commentary, blogs, Facebook, and Twitter. Internal Medicine News Digital Network is the best way for physicians to stay current, save time, and gain perspective.

About Frontline Medical Communications

Frontline Medical Communications Inc. is the healthcare industry's largest medical communications company, a leader in digital, print and live events. The Company leads in HCP level targeting and multimedia engaged reach to meet the marketing challenges of our pharma and device customers through its user validating and tracking digital platform, trusted authoritative brands and deep content offerings by therapeutic category. We reach 1.2 million+ physicians and HCPs with 30 print publications, in 20 distinct market segments, circulating to 700,000 HCPs in print; 125 eNewsletters, 35 active Web sites and multiple mobile apps surrounding 33 brands delivering content daily; 15 live events; and daily newswire services providing the latest medical news generated from on-site reporting from major medical meetings.

Frontline Medical Communications Inc.

7 Century Drive, Suite 302
Parsippany, NJ 07054-4609
Tel: 973-206-3434 | Fax: 973-206-9378
www.frontlinemedcom.com
General Email: sales@frontlinemedcom.com

Frontline is on Twitter and Facebook.
Follow us on Twitter | Like us at Facebook

Contacts:

Denise Fulton
Executive Editor, News Division
Tel: 240-221-2440 (direct)
Email: dfulton@frontlinemedcom.com

Phil Soufleris
Director of Sales, News Division
Tel: 973-290-8224 (direct)
Email: psoufleris@frontlinemedcom.com